

A Study to Help Women Living with HIV Get the Care They Need & Deserve

Our research study team is developing strategies to encourage women living with HIV to get in and stay in HIV care. We want to hear from women living with HIV about the things that help them get the HIV care they need and the things that make it hard for them to stay in care and take their medications.

What does it involve?

Participation in the research study includes a one-time phone/virtual interview lasting approximately 60-90 minutes.

You will receive a $50 gift card for your time and participation in this study.

If you are interested, please call the research study team:

Julie Barroso, PhD, RN
Study Co-Investigator
Phone: (629)221-0225

Are you a woman living with HIV?

We want to hear from you!

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Identify as a woman
- Identify as Black/African American, Latina/Hispanic, or White
- Are living with HIV or AIDS
- > 18 years old
- Able to read and communicate in English